

WHY GODL?

GODL is a utility-based token on the Polygon blockchain, designed to provide a digital interface to physical gold without the operational complexities associated with gold ownership.

The Challenges of Physical Gold

Purchasing and holding physical gold, particularly in meaningful quantities typically involves several practical and cost-related challenges:

Logistics and insurance: Gold is heavy, expensive to ship and requires insured transport

Storage requirements: Secure storage introduces ongoing costs and risk considerations

Liquidity friction: Selling physical gold is often slow and dependent on counterparties

In addition to these operational factors, physical gold transactions commonly involve pricing inefficiencies.

Two structural cost issues

- Physical gold is typically purchased above spot price
- It is typically sold below the LBMA spot price

In practice, buyers often pay up to 5% above spot to acquire physical gold, whilst sellers may receive up to 5% below spot when exiting. This creates an approximate 10% pricing spread, meaning the gold price must rise significantly before a holder simply breaks even.

How GODL Differs

GODL is designed to remove many of the operational and pricing frictions associated with physical gold, whilst maintaining a reference to real gold pricing.

Through the BTS platform (the exclusive access route to GODL):

- No physical shipping, insurance or storage is required
- No custody or handling of physical gold by members
- Pricing is referenced directly to executed gold transactions

Depending on membership tier, participants may acquire GODL at pricing up to 10% below the LBMA rate on the day of purchase, reflecting the platform's execution structure rather than retail bullion mark-ups.

Entry and Exit Simplicity

After the applicable holding period (90 days based on the “Earth to Asset” cycle), GODL may be sold back through BTS at the prevailing LBMA price on the day.

- No commissions
- No counterparty negotiation
- No logistics or settlement complexity

This provides a clear and operationally simple mechanism for accessing and exiting gold, digitally.

Key Takeaways

GODL eliminates the pitfalls, complexities and concerns when buying physical gold.

With GODL you can buy at up to 10% off the LBMA spot rate - with physical gold this simply isn't possible.

GODL allows fractional purchasing.

Exit pricing is always equal to the value of the LBMA rate on the day.
